O'BRIEN GOES SATURDAY.

He Sails to Seek a Conference with Parnell.

THE LATTER MAKES A SPEECH.

Cheered by Irishmen in London, Parnell Says a Few Words Concerning the Great Fight—Preparations to Give Him an Ovation When He Reaches Ireland.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Parnellites and their opponents rested on their arms Sunday after the exciting events of Saturday. The secession of forty-five members of the Irish parliamentary party from the convention, upon Mr. Parnell's refusal to put a motion ordering him to leave the chair, is still the talk of the town. The Parnellites, it is understood, are anxious to force an appeal to the country as soon as possible, and claim that their antagonists are afraid to submit the issue of their conduct to the people. It is stated on the alleged authority of Timothy Healy that the party headed by Justin McCarthy will continue to keep their seats without any resignations, upholding the cause of home rule and waiting for time to bring about a sober and deliberate judgment in the now excited Irish constituencies.

"Deader Than Isaac Butt."

Mr. Barry said that Mr. Parnell's cause would lose instead of gaining with the progress of time, and that the next general election would see him deader than Isaac Butt. Parnell, on the other hand, is said to feel entirely confident and to be already selecting successors for those who have deserted him. He is in ample funds, as since the division in the party several American organizations have forwarded money directly to him instead of to the treasurers formerly appointed. A large proportion of the Irish members have been in receipt of stipends for their services in parliament, and it is difficult to see how those disconnected from Parnell are to receive their salaries hereafter, as the common fund is locked up by the imbroglio.

The McCarthyites Will Need Money.

One of the first tasks of the McCarthyites will necessarily be to devise some scheme of raising a fund independent of that heretofore relied upon for parliamentary expenses, and it is not likely that either faction will obtain much money from the Irish people until the question of supremacy is settled.

Many of the McCarthy people are much embarrassed for funds, as they have relied on the quarterly checks for £250, which are just coming due. These checks will probably be withheld by Mr. Parnell, and it is likely the needy members will be paid temporarily from the fund raised Saturday night for the establishment of a paper.

The anti-Parnellites are discussing the advisability of having Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon return via France, in which country a convention could be held for the purpose of obtaining their advice before they submitted to rearrest and imprisonment. Messrs. Gilhooly, P. O'Brien, Carew and Mahon are still classed as doubtful. This makes the Healy-McCarthy party's strength fifty, and the Parnellites' thirty-one.

As Leader and Friend.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—In consequence of the publication of misleading versions of the cablegrams which have just passed between Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien on the subject of negotiations for the reunion of the Irish party Mr. O'Brien has communicated to the press the whole correspondence as follows:

NEW YORK, Dec. 7, 1890.

To Mr. Parnell, M. P., House of Commons, London:

(Confidential.) I shrink with horror from taking sides against you in a struggle which opens such an appalling prospect of ruin and disgrace to our cause. Throughout this unhappy business I have abstained from saying one word personally offensive to you, and have read with deepest pain and disgust some of the personal attacks made on you, and now before Ireland is irretrievably committed to a ruinous conflict I appeal to you as a leader I have for ten years been proud to follow, and as a friend for whom I still feel a warm affection, can you not see some way by which, while safeguarding your own reputation, the country may be saved from the destruction which threatens it? WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

Too Late for Rescue.

LONDON, Dec. 8, 1890.

To Mr. O'Brien, Hoffman House:

Had you wired prior to Saturday some suggestion from me might have succeeded. Now too late for me to rescue seceders from a false position. Shall, however, be very glad to see and consult you on arrival in Europe. PARNELL.

In addition to the above, Mr. O'Brien forwarded the following cablegram yesterday:

O'Brien Will Sail Saturday.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9, 1890.

To Mr. Parnell, M. P., House of Commons:

Regret to find misleading version of my confidential cablegram published in the press. Your reply shows a total misunderstanding of my message, which was prompted by a regard for past services and by a still existing personal affection, and sent with the knowledge of colleagues here in the earnest hope that you might in consonance with the will of a majority of the party, whose election of chairman we have indorsed, find a way by which the country might be saved from a ruinous conflict. The tone of your reply leaves little ground for hope, but having a regard to the horrible consequences to the country of a prolonged internecine struggle, am still anxious to have an interview and shall start Saturday for France on my way to Ireland. Am communicating this to the press. WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

Parnell Speaks to a Crowd.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Mr. Parnell started for Dublin last evening. There was a crowd of Irish residents of London at the railway station to see him off. They cheered him with wild enthusiasm, and in response to their repeated calls Mr. Parnell finally addressed them from a car window. He said: "I am overjoyed that you have honored me in such numbers with your help in this fight which I have undertaken. I owed sixteen years ago to Irishmen in England the first assistance in framing for my country the path which she has pursued from that day to this. I have never forgotten your help, and have never forgotten that to you, exiles from Erin, was due the first godspeed to the new struggle.

They Would Win Together.

"You shall have no cause to regret that you stood by me in those days, and you will be with me to the end, and together we will win for our country what God has determined she shall get."

These remarks were greeted with immense enthusiasm. There were a number of Healyite members of parliament in the rear car of the same train. They listened with apparent interest to what their rejected leader had to say, but made no open comment.

An Interview with Parnell.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The World publishes an interview with Mr. Parnell, in which he critises Gladstone for his tardiness in taking action after the verdict of the divorce court. He says he did not know of Gladstone's letter to Morley until after his re-election. Five days before the verdict he had seen Morley, who apparently knew what the result would be, but Morley asked him no questions. Mr. Parnell said that he had all along determined to do nothing in the divorce proceedings, for the reason that he thought a defense was unlike the province of Mrs. O'Shea. He was willing to go into the witness box, but when she concluded to make no defense he could not take any action.

The Duty of Irish-Americans.

He denied that he had ever authorized Michael Davitt or any one else to say that he would clear away the charges at the trial.

"What do you consider is the duty of Irishmen in America in this crisis?" Mr. Parnell was asked.

"I consider," said Mr. Parnell earnestly, "that it is the duty of Irishmen in America at this crisis to assist me in maintaining the integrity and independence of the Irish party. That integrity could not and would not have been impaired by any mere alliance with the Liberal party, but matters for some months past have progressed further than a mere alliance.

"Something approaching to a fusion has been and is now taking place. This is what it is necessary for me to check and prevent."

A Charge Answered.

"What have you to say about the charge that you did your colleagues an injustice in concealing Mr. Gladstone's conversations about home rule?"

"It was impossible," replied Mr. Parnell, "for me to disclose by public speech or by private explanation the setback which the Hawarden communications had given to the cause of home rule, and the perplexity with which they had filled my mind. The matter was still not definitely settled.

"Until all hope had been removed of arriving at a satisfactory understanding upon these important subjects with Mr. Gladstone it would have been highly improper for me in any way to have referred publicly to the matter."

A Hopeless Split.

Mr. Parnell does not believe that the Irish party can now be reunited. The return of O'Brien and Dillon would not mend matters.

"I was at all times willing to compromise, as my acceptance of Mr. Clancy's amendment proves, an acceptance which would have involved my retirement had Mr. Gladstone given the assurance the Irish party required, but these assurances were not given, and my persecution by our party was still persisted in. Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien took sides against me from the first, and so lost the opportunity of a successful intervention. Their intervention would now be too late."

Gold Coming to America.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Gold to the amount of $3,000,000 will start from Europe this week for New York. Nearly all of this will come by the steamship Majestic, which sails today. This gold will tend very strongly to relieve the money stringency in this country, the extent of which was shown yesterday, when the rates for money advanced to one-quarter per cent. and interest, for no apparent cause, except fear on the part of capitalists. On Saturday and Monday gold to the amount of $1,500,000 had been ordered. Today's orders were as follows: Lazard Freres, $500,000; August Belmont, $250,000; agents Bank of Montreal, $250,000; Produce Exchange bank, $125,000; Kuhn, Loeb & Co., $250,000; Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., $100,000. Total, $1,475,000. It is stated on Wall street that owing to the extreme ease of money in London the Bank of England is willing to lose from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 of gold in the settlement of her trade balance, consequently little fear is entertained that the bank's discount rate will be advanced in consequence of these shipments.

The Nightingale Failure.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 10.—The liabilities of Messrs. Nightingale Bros. & Knight, silk manufacturers of this place, who made an assignment to Judge Barkalow, are now stated to be not less than $400,000, and their assets, it is believed, amount to only about half that sum. The creditors are chiefly the firm of J. T. Walker, Sons & Co., of New York, who went under last month, and the National Broadway bank. About two weeks ago the firm called a meeting of their creditors and offered a settlement upon a basis of fifty cents on the dollar, but this was declined and the assignment followed. The wind up is the culmination of difficulties under which Nightingale Bros. have labored for the last seven or eight years.

A Large Shoe Failure.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 10.—G. W. Ingalls & Co., of Boston, the shoe dealers who assigned with $300,000 liabilities, had stores in Syracuse, Auburn, Ithaca, Jamestown, Lockport, Medina, Rome, Tonawanda, Utica and Watertown, this state; Lewiston, Me.; Manchester, N. H., and Boston and Worcester, Mass. The Syracuse branch has not yet closed.

THE DELAMATER FAILURE.

About $30,000 Said to Have Been Borrowed Just Before the Crash Came.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 8.—No statement of the Delamater failure will be issued for several days, but it is certain that about one-half the inhabitants of this city are depositors. As far as can be learned the liabilities of the firm will aggregate $500,000 or more. It is thought the deposits will not amount to one-half this sum, but Mr. Delamater has a good deal of paper floating about, and in the last week he had succeeded in putting out about $50,000, if not more. Two days before the failure about $30,000 was borrowed by the firm in Philadelphia, and it is stated that a round sum was obtained in Pittsburg on the same day.

$1,000,000 Was at Stake.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—A special dispatch from a staff correspondent of The Times, who left this city in company with State Treasurer Boyer for Meadville, says: "State Treasurer Boyer arrived here yesterday from Philadelphia and at once went to the office of Senator Delamater's attorney, where he found the senator. Mr. Boyer informed him that he had come for the purpose of learning the exact situation of the affairs at the bank. 'That's just what we are trying to find out,' said Mr. Delamater. 'I can't say just when a clear and concise statement can be made ready, but I am anxious to have it as early as possible.'"

The interview lasted but two minutes, and no one would have thought that $1,000,000 of state funds was at stake, so brief and informal was it.

After the departure of the state treasurer Senator Delamater said regarding the cause of the failure:

"Some time prior to the election my political enemies started the story that our bank was weak. The run continued for ten days after the election, and we were just bridging over our troubles when the crash came.

"The real cause of the difficulty lies with me. I had early in the campaign to put up $50,000 with two other men in order to keep the Philadelphia Finance company in condition after the fight of Senator MacFarlane. In addition to that I had to pay over $40,000 of notes which I had indorsed for MacFarlane, and they fell due just before the election. I was also forced to raise large sums of money to meet the demands on the bank from people who were withdrawing their deposits. I want to say to you that I did not know of the failure until I arrived here last Friday morning from Philadelphia."

While the senator did not tell of other reasons for the failure it is known that the state treasurer, for weeks prior to the bank's downfall, had made repeated requests for first class security for the $100,000,000 which the Delamaters had in their bank. The senator had made repeated engagements to meet the state treasurer and arrange the entire matter in a satisfactory way, but upon some pretext he always failed to make his engagements good. It is stated that two more prominent Philadelphians are out $10,000 each by the failure of Senator Delamater, who managed to borrow the money just prior to the failure.

Another Big Purchase of Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The treasury department yesterday purchased $3,105,200 4 per cent. bonds at prices ranging from 123 to 123¾.

Ex-Congressman Blair Dead.

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 8.—Ex-Congressman Samuel Steel Blair, of Hollidaysburg, the oldest member of the Blair county bar, died Dec. 6. He was 69 years old.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read proof below:

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., BROOKLYN, CONN., May 5, '90.
Sirs:—Last Summer I cured a Curb upon my horse with your celebrated Kendall's Spavin Cure and it was the best job I ever saw done. I have a dozen empty bottles, having used it with perfect success, curing every thing I tried it on. My neighbor had a horse with a very bad Spavin that made him lame. He asked me how to cure it. I recommended Kendall's Spavin Cure. He cured the Spavin in just three weeks.
Yours respectfully,
WOLCOTT WITTER.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 4, '90.
DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:
Dear Sirs:—I have been selling more of Kendall's Spavin Cure and Flint's Condition Powders than ever before. One man said to me, it was the best Powder I ever kept and the best he ever used.
Respectfully,
OTTO L. HOFFMAN.

CHITTENANGO, N. Y., May 19, '90.
DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.
Dear Sirs:—I have used several bottles of your Kendall's Spavin Cure with perfect success, on a valuable and blooded mare that was quite lame with a Bone Spavin. The mare is now entirely free from lameness and shows no bunch on the joint.
Respectfully, F. H. HOFFMAN.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.
MONROE, La., May 8, '90.
DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.,
Gentlemen:—I think it my duty to render you my thanks for your far famed Kendall's Spavin Cure. I had a four year old filly which I priized very highly. She had a very severe swollen leg. I tried about eight different kinds of medicines which did no good. I purchased a bottle of your Kendall's Spavin Cure which cured her in four days.
I remain yours,
MARION DOWDEN.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS.

Happenings of the World from Pole to Pole.

TOLD IN A FEW SECONDS OF TIME.

The Developments of Each Day During the Week Past Caught Fresh from the Busy Wires and Carefully Edited and Condensed for Our Readers.

At Albany the interior of the house of Senator Norton Chase was damaged to the extent of $4,000 by fire; insurance, $7,000.

Joseph Bath, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the second degree for the killing of "Scotty" Cox in September last at Buffalo, was sentenced to one year and ten months' imprisonment.

It is currently reported that a free coinage bill will be offered in the senate as a substitute for the tobacco rebate bill.

The board of aldermen of New York have adopted a resolution by a vote of 14 to 11 granting a franchise to the New York and Long Island Tunnel company to construct a tunnel under the East river connecting New York and Long Island.

Rubinstein has resigned the directorship of the St. Petersburg conservatory.

Robert Dick, inventor of the mailing machine in use in all the large newspaper offices in the United States and Canada, died at Buffalo Dec. 9. He was nearly 77 years old and was born in Scotland.

The court of appeals at Toronto has decided that John C. Brosi, the noted swell forger, will have to return to Pittsburg, Pa., where he is wanted for the forgery of his uncle's (ex-Mayor Miller's) name to checks to the amount of $1,700.

Alfred L. Dennis, president of the united railroads of New Jersey, died Dec. 8 at Newark, N. J. He was 73 years old.

Mrs. Cornelia V. E. Miller, who was charged with receiving the sum of $125,000 alleged to have been embezzled by the firm of J. H. Field & Co., of London, and whose extradition was sought by the British consul, has been discharged by United States Commissioner Shields.

The Gladstone club, of Providence, R. I., has offered a $4,000 purse for a scientific contest between Jake Kilrain and George Godfrey.

The complaint against Real Estate Broker Perrin H. Sumner, who was mixed up in the Edgar mystery of Yonkers, was dismissed in the police court. The evidence against him was insufficient to sustain the charge of forgery on which he was arrested.

Governor Hill has dismissed the charges heretofore presented against Charles W. Stapleton, the county clerk of Madison county, N. Y., and denied the application for his removal from office. The governor in a lengthy decision holds that the charges are not sufficiently sustained to warrant executive interference.

Fire at Tionesta, Pa., destroyed David Barrett's general store, the Dracomo building, Rales' watchmaking establishment and G.W. Bovard's dry goods and grocery. Loss, $22,750; insurance, $11,100.

Washington McLean, for many years well known in journalism as the proprietor of The Cincinnati Enquirer, died at his residence in Washington, Dec. 8, in his 74th year.

Speaker Reed laid before the house a letter from the secretary of the treasury transmitting a communication from the commissioner of pensions submitting a deficiency in the appropriation for the payment of pensions for the current fiscal year of $34,500,000.

Jugigo, the Japanese murderer in prison in Sing Sing, for a week refused food, evidently with suicidal intent.

The will of leather merchant Daniel B. Fayerweather, which has been filed for probate, gave $2,195,000 to various colleges and hospitals.

The national convention of federated trades opened at Detroit with ninety delegates in attendance. President Gompers in his address said: "Put none but union men on guard. We know what we want, and I think we know how to go about to get it."

Reports from North Dakota state that several brushes have occurred between ranchmen and Indians. In one fight four Indians are said to have been killed. Gen. Miles has gone to the scene.

Chew Gui and Chew Jim, of Mott street, New York, sent for their Chinese wives, and the couples were remarried by an orthodox minister.

The financial and commercial situation continued practically unchanged. Cotton men are particularly anxious about the immediate future. Roberts, Cushman & Co., importers of hatters' materials, failed for $500,000 at New York.

Mrs. Snell, the widow of Amos J. Snell of Chicago, has renewed her offer to pay $50,000 for the arrest of William B. Tascott and his detention until identified. The reward will hold good for one year.

Ernst Ketler, a butcher, shot twice at his wife, inflicting only a flesh wound, in their apartments on East Seventy-sixth street, New York, and believing he had killed her fired two bullets into his own brain, dying instantly.

Adolpho Alves Maseira, a petty officer in the Brazilian navy, cut down with a blow from a cutlass a seaman on board the man-of-war Aquidaban, now lying in the North river at New York. The affair occurred in the presence of six lieutenants, who, to all appearances, entirely approved of the action taken. The sailor did not obey the officer's orders with the alacrity he thought proper.

THE FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

The News of Senate and House for One Week.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—In the house Representative-elect Thomas J. Geary, of California, was sworn in. The resolution looking to the removal of the remains of Gen. Grant to Arlington was debated and finally was defeated—92 to 153. A number of public building bills were passed. In speaking against the Grant removal resolution Mr. Quinn (N. Y.) said he was surprised that the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. O'Neill) should have committed himself to the furtherance of a resolution which he was sure was repugnant to the gentleman's best feelings. There was not an atom of patriotism in the resolution. Gen. Grant lay in one of the grandest spots that ever hero slept in. Complaint was made that New York had not subscribed money enough to build a monument. While New York was receiving subscriptions for the monument the terrible disaster at Johnstown had occurred. New York had lost sight of the monument, but she had not lost sight of the suffering and distress at Johnstown and had made contributions with a liberal hand. He appealed to American patriotism to do nothing that was likely to disturb the peace of this great hero. (Applause.)

Mr. O'Neill (Pa.) said that gentlemen might call this infamy, but if they could call the roll of the dead in Arlington there was not one soldier who would not respond in favor of the measure. This was not an interference with the family of Gen. Grant. To speak of it in that way was begging the question. Mr. Bingham (Pa.) said that he would be unjust to his state and to his associates during the war if he did not pronounce his condemnation of some of the statements made. It was true that during the fearful days of Gettysburg the New York regiments had fought gallantly, but in doing so they had fought for New York as well as for Pennsylvania. He regretted that the Johnstown disaster had been put forward as a reason why New York had not raised a great sum of money to complete the Grant monument.

Mr. Cannon (Ill.) was in favor of placing Gen. Grant's remains at some place where the greatest number of the American people could most readily visit the last resting place of the great commander. He believed that Arlington was the best place for the remains of Gen. Grant to rest.

Mr. Farquhar (N. Y.) protested against the transfer of Gen. Grant's remains as a Republican representative, as a personal friend of Gen. Grant and family and as a soldier of the republic. The trouble with the New York monument was that the committee was too respectable to raise the money. He wanted New York to recast her committee, and if $500,000 was wanted in twelve months that $500,000 would be forthcoming.

The resolution was then defeated.

In the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—In the senate some minor measures were passed. In presenting a bill relating to the circulation, Mr. Plumb said that he would soon ask to have the elections bill laid aside and financial matters considered. Debate on the elections bill was resumed, and Mr. Berry and Mr. Daniel spoke against it. Mr. Butler gave notice of an amendment to the bill providing that supervisors, canvassers and all election officers be regarded as ministerial and not as judicial officers. Mr. Hoar gave notice that he would ask the senate today to sit into the evening until the debate on the bill was closed.

PRESIDENT POLK TALKS.

The Alliance Will Annihilate Unfriendly Parties.

WHAT THE FARMERS ARE AFTER.

The Sub-Treasury Scheme Is a Popular One—Dealing in Futures Disapproved Of—A Third Party Inevitable Unless Other Parties Do as the Farmers Desire.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 9.—Having reiterated the St. Louis platform the Farmers' Alliance convention formulated the demands through which they expect to see those privileges brought into practice. Among the most important features of the demands are the abolition of national banks, the adoption of the sub-treasury scheme, the prevention of dealing in futures on agricultural and mechanical productions and tariff reform. The people who have been trying to manipulate the convention for a modification of the demands to suit the Democratic party made a hard and shrewd fight, but early yesterday it became patent that the delegates had awakened to the fact that there was something in the wind and that they were defeated. The alliance now stands free from party entanglements of any kind and is practically united.

A Third Party Inevitable.

President Polk does not believe either of the old parties has attempted to shape the policy of the alliance. He said today: "If the Democrats in the Fifty-second congress do not manifest a willingness to grant our demands a third party is inevitable and the southern Democratic alliance men will be in. They are determined to gain the ends they are striving for and they will smash any party which opposes them."

No Sign of Weakening.

Speaking of the discussion today he said: "We reiterated every one of our demands and there were only three votes against the financial plan. The question was discussed in every possible bearing for four hours and there was no sign of weakening in the ranks.

"Yes, it is true that the sub-treasury plan does not contain the 80 per cent. clause, but it retains the vital principles of loans on farm products. It is true, too, that the demand for the government of railroads is made conditional instead of peremptory, but that was by no means the result of Democratic influences.

The Blaine Story Unimportant.

"I don't see much significance in the Blaine story. What if Rittenhouse did call upon him? Hadn't he a right to if he wanted to, and does it necessary signify corrupt purposes on his part that he did so? I consider that I have a perfect right to go to Blaine's house or to Harrison's house to see any public man I please."

Private Secretary Rittenhouse acknowledges that he called at Blaine's house. He says he was asked to call by Col. Richard Hinton, who asked him if he would not like to be introduced to Blaine. The interview, however, he says, never took place, and he has never spoken to Mr. Blaine.

The Sub-Treasury Scheme Discussed.

The sub-treasury scheme was discussed at length by the convention. Mr. Louks, of South Dakota, moved to make the sub-treasury scheme apply to all merchantable products instead of those relating to the farmer alone. Mr. Perdue, of Texas, suggested that Louks' amendment protected the manufacturing interests, which were amply able to protect themselves.

Mr. Hall, of Missouri, made a strong speech against the whole scheme of amendment. His principal objection to the sub-treasury scheme was that it was class legislation of the most objectionable type. Congressman-elect Jerry Sampson, of Kansas, strongly favored the measure. Kansas raised last year, he said, a big corn crop, which was sold at less than fourteen cents a bushel. Chicago grain gamblers raised the price there to forty-five cents. If the government had protected the farmers as it had other classes the farmers could have had the forty-five cents. It would have made a difference of $60,000,000. Half of this could have gone to pay mortgages and the other to permit the United States farmers to live like human beings.

Mr. Clark, of Texas, denied that the sub-treasury scheme was class legislation or for the farmers alone. It was simply a plan to change the method of issuing currency.

A Flexible Currency Wanted.

Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, the "daddy" of the scheme, as he says, objected very strongly to the proposition to loan money on land. The great desideratum was to have a flexible currency which would be governed by the law of supply and demand. Based on land the currency would remain fixed because land stays. Based on commodities it would be plenty only when needed, because pig iron and corn come and go. Then as soon as you make land the basis of currency the money loaners will simply buy land, control the currency and leave us as badly off as ever.

Mr. Carskadon, of West Virginia, said the government had no right to take his property from one man not in fault and try to make up the wants of others. If you redu

ANNOUNCEMENT.

With this month THE COLUMBIAN will complete its twenty-fifth volume, and THE COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT its fifty-third volume. With the beginning of a new year some decided changes will be made in THE COLUMBIAN. It will be enlarged and changed to an eight page paper and will be then what it always has been with the exception of the past year, the largest paper in the county. The price of subscription will remain the same as at present, $1.00 a year, if paid in advance. This is very cheap, too cheap, but we propose to meet all competition, and besides enlarging the paper at the old price, every effort will be made to improve both our editorial and news columns. A new dress of type has been ordered, and the first issue in January will appear in a new form with new type. We fully appreciate the liberal patronage that has been bestowed upon us for so many years, and we shall endeavor to merit a continuance of the same in the future. This is an age of progress, and we propose to keep up with the procession.

Senator Delamater's failure last Friday is supposed to be a bad one. The liabilities of his banking firm are estimated as high as $800,000. There are some unpleasant features in the case that will shake the faith of the admirers of the late republican candidate for governor, unless he can make a satisfactory explanation. On Tuesday Delamater was in Philadelphia, and raised a considerable amount of money by what appears to be questionable means. David Martin endorsed a $5000 check for him on a bank at Erie and the check was returned protested. Delamater also drew $8000 on a draft on Delamater & Co, but the firm failed before the draft was cashed by them. He is supposed to have raised $80,000 in this way, but no one knows what became of the money. The causes of the failure are several, but one of them no doubt was the enormous expense of the recent campaign. State Treasurer Boyer had on deposit in Delamater's bank $100,000 of state funds.

Quay's Pension Scheme.

A BILL TO EQUALIZE AMOUNTS PAID FOR CERTAIN INJURIES.

Senator Quay has introduced a bill granting to all persons whose names are now on the pension list or may be hereafter placed on it, who have lost both eyes, or both feet, or who are otherwise totally disabled, a pension of $100 a month. Also to all persons who have lost an arm at the shoulder joint or a leg at the hip joint, a pension of $60 a month; and to those who have lost an arm below the elbow or a leg below the knee, $55 a month. Those who have lost a hand or a foot or have been totally disabled in the same, are to be entitled to $50 a month.

The bill provides further that persons who have contracted two or more disabilities shall receive a sum per month equal to the total of the rates for all the disabilities mentioned.

A Cure for Pimples

Robert P. Allen Dead.

Hon. Robert P. Allen of Williamsport died at his home last Saturday night of Bright's disease, aged 55 years and 10 months. He was a lawyer and a prominent and influential citizen.

In 1874 Mr. Allen was chosen to represent the Twenty-fourth Senatorial District, consisting of Lycoming, Columbia, Montour and Sullivan counties, for the short term, under the provisions of the new constitution. His record in the State Senate was such that he was returned for the full term of four years by a largely increased majority. He shone in the Senate as one of the brightest members, and his services were generally recognized as of great and incalculable value. Upon the conclusion of his term he resumed the practice of the law, and always discouraged the efforts of his friends to push him forward as a candidate for public office.

He was a staunch Democrat, but not of the partisan kind. In 1883 he was a member of the Executive Committee of the State Democratic organization. In 1884 he represented the Sixteenth Pennsylvania district in the Democratic National Convention, which nominated President Cleveland. In 1885 he was temporary chairman of the State Democratic convention.

His funeral took place on Wednesday.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the Market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Adjourned to Saturday at 2 p. m.

There has been some talk on the street that the county commissioners are contemplating the introduction of the Sweed, mills & Co, system of heating, ventilating and closets. The court house is already supplied with steam heat and sewer connection, and the change would involve the loss of what has already been done and a heavy expense for the new apparatus There does not seem to be any occasion for such a change and the cost of the addition to the court house will be quite sufficient, without imposing upon the tax payers any useless and unnecessary expense.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

N. B. If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1020 Eighth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

PUBLIC SALE.

—OF—

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

The undersigned, surviving executor of the last will and testament of Ezekiel Cole, late of Sugarloaf township, in Columbia county, Penna., now offers at public sale on the premises on

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18,

A. D. 1890, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, a large body of the most desirable real estate to be found in the township.

It consists of a tract of land lying upon both sides of the Fishingcreek and comprising in the whole about 280 Acres.

That portion of it which is upon the west side of the creek has the following improvements and advantages, to-wit. A large frame formerly kept as a hotel, a frame building erected for and occupied as a country store, a large frame building erected and occupied as a tenant house, and also outbuildings, saw mill, &c. It is well wooded and has a considerable quantity of excellent fruit. It is accessible by two public roads and a county bridge, and also by the Bloomsburg & Sullivan railroad, and it contains about 111 Acres.

The remainder of the tract lying upon the east side of the creek, is also accessible by two public roads and a county bridge across Fishingcreek to the railroad. The improvements are a large barn &c., the whole tract having been occupied as the homestead farm. This piece contains about 170 Acres.

It will be sold together or in parcels as may be deemed most expedient. The sale will be by the acre. A draft of the land with the improvements roads, &c., can be seen in the hands of the executor at the banking house of the Bloomsburg Banking Company.

TERMS OF SALE—Ten per cent. of one-fourth of the purchase money to be paid upon striking down the property, one-fourth less the ten per cent. on April 1st, 1891, the balance of two-thirds of the purchase money on April 1st, 1892, with interest from April 1st, 1891, the remaining one-third to be left in the lands during the life of said widow, the interest thereon to be paid to her semi-annually during her life, and the principal to the Executor at her death.

Possession Will be given April 1st, 1891 upon the purchaser making payments as above and giving bond and mortgage on the premises, to secure the unpaid purchase money, whereupon a deed will be executed and delivered.

The tenants share of the crops reserved.

H. H. GROTZ, Executor, Bloomsburg, Pa.

MARIA KITCHEN, Adm'x., Millville, Pa.

"Hello! Tom. Glad to see you, old fellow! It's almost ten years since we were married. Sit down; let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife?"

"Oh! she's so-so, same as usual,—always wanting something I can't afford."

"Well, we all want something more than we've got. Don't you?"

"Yes; but I guess I want will be my master." I started to keep down expenses; and now I'll says I'm 'mean,' and she's tired of saving and never having anything to show for it. I saw your wife down street, and she looked as happy as a queen!"

"I think she is; and we are economical, too,—have to be. My wife can make a little go further than anyone I ever knew, yet she's always surprising me with some dainty contrivance that adds to the comfort and beauty of our little home, and she's always 'merry as a lark.' When I ask how she manages it, she always laughs and says: 'Oh! that's my secret!' But I think I've discovered her 'secret.' When we married, we both knew we should have to be very careful; but she made one condition: she would have her Magazine. And she was right! I wouldn't do without it myself for double the subscription price. We read it together, from the title-page to the last word; the stories keep our hearts young; the synopsis of important events and scientific matters keeps me posted so that I can talk understandingly of what is going on; my wife gets a hundred and some new ideas from the household department; she makes all her dresses and those for the children, and she gets all her patterns for nothing, with the Magazine; and we saved Joe when he was so sick with the croup, by doing just as directed in the Familarian Department. But I can't tell you half!"

"What wonderful Magazine is it?"

"Demorest's Family Magazine, and—"

"What! Why that's what Lil wanted so bad, and I told her it was an extravagance."

"Well, my friend, that's where you made a grand mistake, and one you'd better rectify as soon as you can. I'll take your 'sub' right here, on my wife's account: she's bound to have a china tea-set in time for our tin wedding next month. My gold watch was the premium I got for getting up a club. Here's a copy, with the new Premium List for clubs,—the biggest thing out! If you don't see in it what you want, you're only to write to the publisher and tell him what you want, whether it is a tack-hammer or a new carriage, and he will make special terms for you, either for a club, or for part cash. Better subscribe right off and surprise Mrs. Tom. Only $2.00 a year—will save fifty times that in six months. Or send 10 cents direct to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for 4 specimens copy containing the Premium List."

A CITY LUXURY.

Just as the city looks to the country for most of the luxuries used on its tables, so the country must turn to the city for those conveniences which are justly termed luxuries for the hard-working housewife. City housekeepers have learned to realize that to save time is to lengthen life.

SAPOLIO!

is one of the best known city luxuries and each time a cake is used an hour is saved. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. IF YOUR STOREKEEPER DOES NOT KEEP IT YOU SHOULD INSIST UPON HIS DOING SO, as it always gives satisfaction and its immense sale all over the United States makes it an almost necessary article to any well-supplied store. Everything shines after its use, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

The Bloomsburg School board has given an order for a set of Kennedy's dissected blocks to be used in the study of the subject of mensuration. By means of the blocks the scholars in our grammar schools may readily understand how to get the volume of solids of every conceivable shape. Practical knowledge may be gained by which the pupil can easily ascertain the capacity of tanks, the lumber in buildings, the shingles of a roof, or similar results as come before every one in daily life. The blocks will prove a valuable help in this most important study.

The singing of the Meigs Sisters' Concert Company, four in number, was marvelously fine. It is not exaggeration to say that no finer quartette of female voices ever sang in Fulton Opera House. The voices are all unlike, ranging from the lowest alto to the highest and purest soprano, and the harmony with which the widely-different tones were blended, and the accuracy of time with which each note was given, was the very perfection of vocal music. They sang "The Hunter's Tally-ho Song," and answered an enthusiastic encore with "The House that Jack Built." In their next appearance on the stage they sang one of Mendelssohn's selections and the "Lady Bird," and answered an encore with "Robin Adair." Their conclusion pieces were the 'Concert Waltz' and 'Serenade' by Bishop'—(Lancaster, Pa.

HUNTERS AS TRESPASSERS.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

Will you please publish in your paper the law concerning hunters. I am annoyed very much by hunters running over my fields, and I want to know if there is no way to stop it. FARMER.

The law for hunters is the same as for anybody else. Any person who wilfully enters through or over any field, orchard, garden or yard fence, or who shall trample or in anywise injure any grain, grass, vines or other growing, crop is subject to a penalty of not less than five, nor more than fifty dollars, for each offense. The offender can be arrested on a warrant issued by any justice of the peace, who has power to hear the case and impose the penalty. One half the fine goes to the party injured, and the other half to the school fund of the district in which the trespass was committed. The law does not require any sign boards notifying hunters to keep off, though it is best to have them.

Revival of the Fan.

Polite nations for centuries back have used fans, but the French during the 16th and 17th centuries, perfected the art. Not only the art of making, but also the art of using the fan owes its perfection to Gallic nations of years ago. In the gay Courts of Louis XIV, and Louis XV fan decoration received its greatest encouragement, and now a "Vernis" Martin, a Watteau, a Vanloo or a Bouchor is eagerly sought for cabinets and highly prized. Every reader of Balzac remembers how old cousin Pons tenderly carried a Watteau fan to his wealthy but uncultivated relative, and how he was hurt when they failed to appreciate the gentle, spiritual art of the "Prince of Court Painters" as Watteau has been called. A member of the firm of Bailey, Banks & Biddle, Philadelphia, who is in a good position to know, said that he believed that there would be a revival of the art. "We carry in stock some of the finest fans made in this country," observed this gentleman, "and they are, in some respects, the mounting for instance, superior to the old ones."

Do not forget that J. H. Mercer carries a very large line of Christmas goods. Give him a call.

The Electric Light Company Enjoined.

On Monday morning last, J. B. Robison, Esq., presented a bill in equity in court asking for an injunction to restrain the Electric Light Company from erecting any buildings, or from collecting any subscription from stockholders, or from doing any other acts as a corporation, until an order or decree may be made by the court. The bill is filed by D. W. Kitchen, and the defendants are the Bloomsburg Electric Light & Power Company, the board of directors, the Thomson-Houston Electric Light Company and Thomas Gorrey.

A contract has been made with the Thomson-Houston Co. for the electric apparatus, for less than $16000, and Thomas Gorrey has a contract for the erection of the building at $2300. Some of the foundation walls are up, and the agent of the Thomson-Houston Co. had begun work on their contract, and has a lot of material on hand.

The bill alleges that the charters of the company was irregularly obtained, that the company has purchased land for which no good title can be obtained; that a contract was made with the Edison Company for $8000, which was afterwards repudiated and a contract made for nearly double that amount with the Thomson-Houston Co., together with numerous other allegations. A preliminary injunction was granted, and Saturday was fixed for a hearing on a motion to dissolve the injunction.

Jamison City and Long Pond Road.

About two years ago A. L. Fritz, Esq., of this town, wrote a petition which was presented to the Court of Sullivan county, asking for the appointment of viewers to lay out a public road from Jamison City to the Long Pond, a distance of about four miles. The nearest wagon road at present time is about twelve miles. The matter has been pending in the Court of that county upon exceptions until a few days ago, when the Court decided in favor of a public road, and the report of the viewers was confirmed. Although Davidson township made an effort to defeat it on account of the great expense in building a mountain road, yet it will be very convenient to the people of that section, as well as travellers and pleasure-seekers to the mountain resorts. When the road is completed the guests of the Manor Rest Inn of Jamison City will have only a short ride to one of the highest points in the State of Pennsylvania.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF COLUMBIA COUNTY.

In the Matter of the Coroner's Inquests upon the dead bodies of Prince Grover, Ira Grover and Schuyler Richards, of Beaver township, Columbia county.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

The return of the inquisitions in these cases have been handed to the Court with a request that we should approve the same.

Before we can do this we must adjudge that there was reasonable cause for holding them.

In such cases we are so often importuned to approve of them against our will and against the County, that it is high time that the public, and especially Coroners and Justices of the Peace should comply with the law on this subject.

We therefore now put in writing, what we have heretofore said orally respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace in such cases, with the hope that it will be a satisfaction to Coroners and Justices, and with a full knowledge that it will be a great saving to the County.

We do not possess the power to approve of any bill against the County, unless expressly authorized by statute, except in a few instances, relating to trials in Court, we may authorize the payment of certain expenses to prevent a failure of the administration of justice. If in the hurry of business we wrongfully approve of bills of this kind the County Commissioners are not bound to pay them.

The custom in this County of holding an inquisition over the dead body of every person who is accidentally killed, commits suicide, or where the cause of death is known, must no longer prevail at the County's expense.

It is the duty of a Coroner and of a Justice of the Peace, when authorized to act in the place of the Coroner, to make diligent inquiry, and if, on that inquiry or information, there is no reasonable suspicion of murder or manslaughter, no jury should be summoned, nor investigation made at the cost of the County.

If friends, neighbors and relatives desire it, let it be done at their expense.

Where death results from the kick of a horse, from an explosion, or from being crushed by machinery, or pure accident; or where a person is seen or known to have taken his or her own life by any means; or where upon inquiry or information no suspicion of guilt or crime of the living reasonably arises, there is no occasion for an inquest and none should be held, and none will hereafter be adjudged necessary or approved by this Court.

The deaths of the persons named in the inquisition having as therein alleged been caused by the explosion of the steam boiler of a portable saw-mill, in the presence and view of friends and neighbors who heard, saw and told how it occurred, there was no reason or necessity for an inquest.

We therefore direct the inquisition to be filed, but make no order for the payment of fees or costs.

BY THE COURT,
E. R. IKELER, P. J.

Council Proceedings.

Council met Monday evening, December 8th, with the President and all members present except Schwinn.

Upon motion and in response to petition a lamp was ordered placed at the corner of West and Fourth street.

The Greatest Orator of the West.

Dr. James Hedley, the greatest orator of the West, will deliver his lecture on "The Sunny side of Life," in the Opera House next Tuesday evening.

"His words are always pure and sweet, his counsel quickening and ennobling, and his eloquence thrilling and persuasive. He has the exceedingly rare power of touching men's hearts, and in his lectures he sways his listeners as with the wand of the enchanter, and moves them to laughter or melts them to tears, at will."

Opera House, Tuesday evening, Dec. 16,

Leading authorities say the only proper way to treat catarrh is to take a constitutional remedy, like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Every Household Needs It.

Dr. T. C. Harter, M. D., of Bloomsburg, Pa., is interested in a patent which promises to equal if not eclipse any invention yet brought before the public. It is called the Crystal Butter Package. It is made of glass encased in a neatly finished wood package, so there is no danger of breakage in shipment. It is well adapted to the canning and pressing of fruits, maple syrup, &c. As a butter package farmers can pack their butter in the summer months when it is cheap and keep it absolutely sweet until the winter months when butter commands a high price. Consumers of butter can likewise use it in storing away butter for their winter use. The article should be placed in every household, as more than the price of it can be saved in one season. Agents desiring to handle a good saleable article should write Dr. Harter for territory in Columbia and Montour counties.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

TO THE PUBLIC.

As to-day I begin my duties under the Constitution of Pennsylvania, as your servant, as a member of the Legislature, I deem it proper to say a few words to you through the public press of the county, as my constituents, regardless of partizan politics.

1st. If you have any desired legislation, any petition, or any public measure you wish my assistance in, prepare them and forward them to me before Jan. 6, 1891, if possible, for business to insure attention must be attended to at beginning of session. I am at your service, so please act; and act promptly. Have your Bills, Petitions, Joint Resolutions, etc., prepared at once. Personally I have nothing to present, except such as is asked by my constituents. Remember the last Legislature raised a Tax Commission; also, a Road Commission; watch them both. Your will in regard to them will be my guide. I believe they will be a hinderance to all honest, fair legislation, on both subjects.

2nd. If you, any of you, desire appointments under the incoming administration and want my indorsement, put your claims in shape. I shall go upon the plan of "first come, first served," other things being equal. Remember, I shall seek no place for any one. There are not many places open. Get Smull's Hand Book of Legislature and you will see and know all about them.

3d. All requests and letters will be duly filed, and answered promptly. If answer is not received in due time, it will be evidence that I have not received your letter, so write again. Never (no, never) send me postage stamps for return postage. There is an appropriation of the State for that purpose to each member of one hundred dollars, and fifty dollars for stationery, so I will have plenty of paper to write you on, and postage to send replies to your letters. All invited to write.

4th. During sessions, will be found in my seat in the House, No. of seat not certain yet; at other times, at my rooms No. 7, South 4th St., and at bolton House. All invited to call.

5th. All Bills offered of interest to Columbia county will, by permission of the editors of the several papers in the county, be published for the information of the people generally.

6th. Do not expect me to send you very many public documents very soon. Why? Because the departments are just now sending out many of the documents of the last session, of two years ago.

7th. I shall send out no documents unless asked for. Why? How do I know what you want. Agricultural reports are not wanted by mechanics or miners, and so on through the list, therefore, I subjoin a list of matter at the disposal, a limited supply, of each member. Select and order your goods, and if possible they shall be delivered; at least your order shall go on file, viz: See Act of April 16, 1887.

Normal School Notes.

MISS LIMBURGER'S RESIGNATION AND HER SUCCESSOR.

Miss Anna R. Limberger who has during the past year and a half had charge of the advance grade of Model School, has resigned her position, and will go early in January as a missionary to Mexico. Her parents live in Danville, Pa., and she is their only daughter. She has felt since she was a little girl an inclination to be a missionary.

Miss Limburger has been a very faithful, efficient, and successful teacher, and she leaves a host of warm friends among her fellow teachers and her pupils. Her christian influence will be greatly missed in the school, as she was always among the foremost in every good work.

Miss Limburger's successor will be Miss Melissa S. Perley of East Berkshire, Vt. It is the desire of the trustees to keep up, and, if possible, advance the high standard of excellence attained by our model school, accordingly, as soon as it was known that Miss Limberger would leave, diligent search was made for a teacher of wide and successful experience, and one who had been especially trained for the work. It is believed that the school and the patrons of the town are to be congratulated on having secured Miss Perley. She is a graduate of the Oswego, (N. Y.,) State Normal School, was for twelve years critic teacher in the Dayton, Ohio, Normal School. She resigned her position there two years ago for the purpose of resting and pursuing her studies further. Previous to her Normal School experience, she had experience in both ungraded and graded schools, from the primary to the high-school. She comes highly recommended by Dr. Sheldon, Principal of the Oswego Normal School, by her former employers, and by other prominent educators who know her. It would be difficult to see, how the Bloomsburg Normal School could have secured a better teacher for this place. There are very few towns of the size of Bloomsburg, whose children are permitted to enjoy the instruction of teachers of such high professional training. In fact, most cities are not so fortunate.

Mrs. Livermore at the Lancaste County Teachers' Institute.

On motion of Miss May Lawrence, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, who was present at the meeting of the Lancaster County Institute, Thursday morning, Nov. 13, 1890, was requested to address the teachers. She complied and was received with a warmth that must have pleased a veteran platform speaker.—(Pennsylvania School Journal) for December.

On Monday evening previous Mrs. Livermore delivered her lecture on "Our Boys and Our Girls." Dr. Winship, an instructor at the institute, introduced her as a philanthropist, a heroine, a noble woman.

Mrs. Livermore lectures in the Opera House next Thursday evening, Dec. 18th.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H. 12-12-2t.

Holiday Season.

Commencing Wednesday December 10th, 1890, the Bloomsburg & Sullivan Railroad Company, will sell daily excursion tickets to and from all points on their line, including Bloomsburg and Jamison City, good to return from day of issue until evening of January 1st, 1891.

NOTE.—No Excursion tickets sold from Main St. station.

It Is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

A Real Balsam Is Kemp's Balsam.

The dictionary says, "A balsam is a thick, pure aromatic substance flowing from trees." Kemp's Bsam for the throat and Lungs is the only cough medicine that is a real balsam. Many thin, watery cough remedies are called balsams, but such are not. Look through a bottle of Kemp's Balsam and notice what a pure, thick preparation it is. If you cough use Kemp's Balsam. At all druggists'. Large bottles 50c and $1.

The Great Writers of The Day.

To convince everybody, before subscribing, of the high quality and interest of our beautifully illustrated journal in its new form, we will send to any address three weeks for 10 cents.

Send ten cents for a trial subscription, and we will send you three numbers, including our Christmas number, with an artistic cover; also, our Calendar Announcement for 1891, with a painting—"The Minuet"—by J. G. L. Ferris.

These three numbers contain the following reading matter:

(1) Mrs. Amelia E. Barr's new serial, "The Beads of Tasmer." Mrs. Barr is the author of that most successful serial, 'Friend Olivia," just completed in The Century; but hereafter Mrs. Barr will write exclusively for the New York Ledger.

(2) Hon. George Bancroft's description of "The Battle of Lake Erie," beautifully illustrated.

(3) Margaret Deland's latest story, "To What End?"

(4) James Russel Lowell's poem, "My Brook," written expressly for The Ledger, beautifully illustrated by Wilson de Meza, and issued as a four-page souvenir supplement.

(5) Mrs. Dr. Julia Holmes Smith starts a series of articles giving very valuable information to young mothers.

(6) Robert Grant's entertaining society novel, "Mrs. Harold Stagg."

(7) Harriett Prescott Spofford, Marion Harland, Marquise Lanza, Maurice Thompson and George Frederic Parsons contribute short stories.

(8) James Parton, M. W. Hazeltine and Oliver Dyer (author of "Great Senators") contribute articles of interest.

In addition to the above, sparkling editorials, illustrated poems, 'Helen Marshall North's chatty column, and a variety of delightful reading of interest to all members of the household,

The foregoing is a sample of the matter which goes to make up the most perfect National Journal ever offered to the American people.

Send ten cents for these three numbers and judge for yourself, or send only two dollars for a year's subscription to

I. W. HARTMAN & SONS' CHRISTMAS CORNER.

The largest, the finest, the cheapest line of Christmas goods in both stores ever offered to the public, is now open at our corner.

It would take the whole of this paper to name half the articles. The big things are Coats, Shawls, Blankets, Flannels and Dress Goods. The centre of the Dry Goods side is full of plush goods and albums, with books by the hundreds for old and young. The whole store is full on both counters and shelves, with useful and fancy articles. Silk and cotton umbrellas, gold and silver headed, all prices. The Grocery side is filled with the finest line of dishes and all kinds of bric-a-brac ware, hanging and stand lamps of the latest styles, with fancy shades. Fruits, nuts, crackers, cakes, candies, jellies, jams, marmalades, &c. If you miss this exhibition you will regret it, especially when your neighbors tell you what they saw. The crowds of Christmas buyers will be great from all over the county. Other towns have never been able to hold a candle to Bloomsburg in Holiday goods, and we invite all who come by rail or wagon to call and look at our display.

Pensions! Veterans!!

The Disability Pension Bill.

Act of June 27, 1890, grants pensions to all ex-soldiers and sailors who served 90 days or more in the Army or Navy during the rebellion, and were honorably discharged, and who are now suffering from any permanent, mental or physical disability contracted since the war or during the war whether from disease, injuries or effects of old age, at the rate of from $6 to $12 per month, according to the degree of his disability for the performance of labor requiring the exertion of physical strength, provided the disability is not due to vicious habits. This pension is not restricted to the veterans who have to make their living by hard labor, but is equally due to professional men or clerks, provided they have an existing disability which would prevent the continuous exercise of the physical strength of an able-bodied man.

Those who have applied under the general laws and who are unable to prove up the pending claim can apply for and secure this pension and then continue the prosecution of the former claim and secure their arrears.

If you are now drawing a small pension, say $2 or $4 per month, you can take this pension instead, and if you have an application on file for increase or additional pension for new disabilities you can continue the prosecution of such claims while drawing the new pension, or you can file an original claim for a disability contracted in the service while drawing pension under this new act.

Widows, children, and dependent mothers and fathers are entitled under this act and can suspend the prosecution of any pending claim, and take this pension, and afterwards complete the prior claim and get arrears.

Having been duly appointed an Agent according to the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior in the prosecution of such claims and having had success in a number of cases I am always prepared to give information and assist claimants, and will assure them success if they are able to establish the facts as required by law.

Those interested should call soon and claim their reward.

WORKS MADNESS.

How Jealousy Acts Upon the Human Mind.

CASE OF SARAH ANN M'MULLEN.

She Throws Two Children from a Bridge Because She Hated the Mother of One of Them—David Greever's Fate—The Brinckerhoff Scandal.

Jealousy!

There is a word to conjure with—a word to call up the active and malignant ghosts of every evil thought or thing that ever brought anguish to the brain of a wronged or overcredulous human being.

Jealousy!

Sometimes it culminates in murder; sometimes in scandalous litigation. Often it is senseless, but in the larger number of instances it is based upon the shameful foundation of detected wrongdoing.

The strangest and most shocking case of jealousy that has come to public notice in recent days is that of Sarah Ann McMullen, a girl 17 years of age, residing at Akron, N. Y. It seems that this young woman, whose occupation was that of a domestic servant, had conceived a wild, unreasoning and unreciprocated passion for her employer, a man of the name of Conners. This passion took the active and insane form of jealousy of Mrs. Conners, and to show her hatred of her unoffending mistress the McMullen girl one day not long ago beguiled to a trestle bridge Mrs. Conners' daughter Ella, aged 11, and her little playmate, Delia Brown, aged 6.

It is not known that she had any grudge against the Brown girl, who seems to have been the chance victim of a crazy woman's freak, but be that as it may, Miss McMullen, after enticing the children to the central part of the trestle, threw them to the bed of the creek, seventy feet below. She then returned to the village, bade good-by to her friends and going to another bridge jumped off with suicidal intent. Her contact with cold water evidently brought her to her senses.

At any rate, she called for help and was rescued unharmed. The Conners girl was killed by her terrible fall, but, remarkable to relate, the Brown child received no injury save from shock. It is almost superfluous to add that Miss McMullen is now a prisoner charged with murder.

Equally tragic is the case reported from Kansas City. David A. Greever was a wealthy and well known stockman of that place who had figured of late in various sensational proceedings, chief among which was a divorce suit instituted by his wife.

One afternoon recently he went to the Hotel Andrews and entered the apartments occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifford. Mrs. Clifford was alone at the time, and, as she declares, received insulting propositions from her visitor. While the two were engaged in excited conversation Mr. Clifford entered and attacked Greever. The latter ran into the hall, followed by the irate husband, who fired three shots at the fleeing stockman, all of which reached their mark, and from whose effects Mr. Greever soon afterward died.

The Cliffords have been held by a coroner's jury on a charge of murder, and it will remain for a trial to decide whether the killing was inspired by jealous wrath or was the culmination of a futile attempt at blackmail. Mrs. Clifford's story of the tragic affair, as told by her to a reporter for one of the Kansas City papers, has some dramatic touches about it. She claims that while sitting by the window reading there was a knock at the door and she said "Come in." Mr. Greever, to whom she had been introduced by Mrs. Ball, the landlady, and whom she had met several times at the table, entered, and throwing his hat and overcoat on the lounge, stepped up close to her.

"Why, Mr. Greever," she exclaimed, "whom do you wish to see, Mr. Clifford or me?"

"I want to see you, and alone," she says he replied, and added, "I've been waiting to see you for some time."

"Go away," she told him, "for my husband may come in any minute."

"I don't care for your husband," he replied; "I am as big as you and him put together."

Suddenly there was a footstep in the hall outside and a hand tried the door knob.

Mrs. Clifford believed it was her 4-year-old boy, and was not undeceived till she heard a step on the balcony outside the open window, and the next instant her husband leaped into the room.

"Why," she says he exclaimed, "is this the way you treat me when I am away? Belle, who's that man?"

"Don't accuse me, Charley, before you hear it all," she answered. "This man came into my room and locked the door." Before she had finished her explanation Greever had grappled with her husband, who was trying to draw a pistol, but the latter was too quick and fired a shot, when Greever unlocked the door and darted into the hall, closely followed by Clifford, pistol in hand. He fired twice more as the fleeing man, while being held by Bartender Fagin. Mrs. Clifford sank into a rocker, where she still sat when her husband reentered, and then she explained to him how Greever came into the room.

"I was still talking to him," she said, "when a policeman came and Charley gave him his pistol and surrendered and was taken away. I don't know how bad that man is shot, but I hope he will die; he deserves to for acting toward me as he did. Why, I didn't know him at all, only as a boarder. Mrs. Ball introduced him to me in her room, and in the two weeks we have been here I met him only at meal time."

The scene at Greever's deathbed was a sorrowful one. By his side stood the wife from whom he had been estranged while he made the following ante-mortem statement to the coroner:

"This was a blackmailing scheme. I drove up to the Hotel Andrews this afternoon with George Kock, of the Fish & Keck Commission company, and Fred Tainter. We went into the saloon and ordered some cocktails. Then I went upstairs into the hotel while the two men waited for me. I intended to see Mrs. Ball, the proprietress of the house. She was not in, and I there saw Mrs. Clifford, wife of the man who shot me. I asked Mrs. Clifford where Mrs. Ball was, and she said she was out and asked me to come in and have a seat.

MRS. HENRIETTA BRINCKERHOFF.

"I did so. We talked for a few minutes, and I then started to go away. When she insisted upon my staying I said, 'No; my time is up, and I must go.' Just then Clifford stepped into the open window, revolver in hand, and said, 'You ——, throw up your hands!' I said, 'No, I won't throw up my hands.' Clifford then fired the shot which struck me in the back, and fired four other shots. I think the whole thing was a blackmailing scheme planned by a man named Charles Fagin and another named Smith. I can account for it in no other way except that they wished to get money out of me."

It now remains, as said before, for the courts to decide whether Clifford's murderous act was that of an insanely jealous husband or a baffled blackmailer.

A suit for divorce, apparently the result of mutual distrust and lack of domestic harmony, is now pending in New York city. The plaintiff is Mrs. Henrietta Brinckerhoff, who seeks her freedom on statutory grounds. Her husband, Daniel D. Brinckerhoff, has recently filed an answer to his wife's sworn charges, in which he accuses her of the most shocking misconduct. If half the allegations advanced by either party to the suit are proven when the case comes to trial the affair will obtain permanent fame in the records of legal scandals.

A Much Traveled Dog.

"Railway Jack" was only a dog. Yet his death the other day at the good old age—for a dog—of 13 years excited much attention, for "Jack" was a noted traveler, and had interested many. His owner was Mr. F. G. Moore, a stationmaster at Lewes, England, and after the dog had taken a few trips on the rail he became passionately fond of it, and would travel far, always returning to his master, however. All the railroad men knew him and gave him free passage, and Lady Brassey was so interested in him that she introduced him to the Prince and Princess of Wales and other notabilities. He possessed three "presentation" collars and a silver medal, and was a universal favorite with railroaders.

Weary of the World.

Suicide seems to be temporarily epidemic in Europe. From St. Petersburg there comes a thrilling story of a professor of medicine who took poison in the very act of lecturing to his class; while in Paris the daily number of cases of self murder is said to range from twelve to eighteen. Nor is there forthcoming any scientific explanation of the phenomenon of the sort in which the late Mr. Buckle took delight. In the spring Parisians who are tired of life mostly drown themselves in the Seine; in the autumn they prefer to asphyxiate themselves by means of charcoal fumes. That is all the statisticians have to tell us. What is the real cause of this alarming predisposition to self murder—whether it is due to religious doubts and difficulties, to compulsory military service, or to the wetness of the so called summer of 1890 in Europe—is a question which for the present remains unanswered.

County, Supt.

NOTE.—Thos. Metherell's Orchestra will render music for all evening entertainments.

Everything Else Failed.

I am now 28 years old, and from the time I was seven years of age until 1885, I suffered with a severe case of Scrofula. During this time I took every known remedy, but to no purpose. My father took me to North Carolina, where I was put under the treatment of an eminent physician The medicines given me had only a temporary effect, for shortly after my return the scrofula broke out in a more malignant form, and I was worse off than ever before. In 1885 I discontinued taking all other medicines and commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S. I took a number of bottles and it cured me. I have been free from Scrofula from that time until now.

T. A. SIZEMORE, Piedmont, S. C.

RESTORED HER HEALTH.

For 25 years I suffered from Boils, Erysipelas, and other blood affections; taking during that time great quantities of different medicines without deriving any perceptible relief. Friends induced me to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) It improved me from the start, and after taking several bottles restored my health as far as I could hope for at my age, which is now 75 years. MRS. GLADSTONE'S KINDNESS.

HOW THE GREAT STATESMAN'S WIFE TREATED A PRETTY AMERICAN GIRL.

A pretty American girl recently called upon Mrs. Gladstone at her London home. She carried a most favorable letter of introduction as a member of a well-known American family. Her brightness and sparkle attracted the wife of the great English statesman, and for an entire afternoon and evening she lived in the Gladstone household. She confessed to Mrs. Gladstone that her visit had a purpose that of writing an article on the home-life of her hostess for an American magazine.

"But, my dear," said Mrs. Gladstone, "your people are interested in Mr. Gladstone; they do not know me."

"That is just why I came," replied the girl, "in order that Americans may learn a little more of you."

At the tea table, Mr. Gladstone joined with his wife in entertaining the American girl, and few were ever given a better opportunity of seeing the Gladstone home-life.

The quiet part which Mrs. Gladstone has played in the career of her famous husband is known to only a few. While thousands of articles have been written of Mr. Gladstone, none of an authoritative character have been printed of his wife. Even her portrait is seldom seen in the English shops; rarely in the prints. She has always felt that public interest in her own country and across the sea was centred in her husband, and in order that his greatness might stand out more strikingly, she has each year further retired from public view. A freshness will, therefore, attach itself to the story "A Day with Mrs. Gladstone," as it will be told by her bright young visitor in The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia, during the coming year. This article will be one of the series of "Unknown Wives of Well-known Men," which this excellent magazine will contain during 1891.

Cold Waves.

Are predicted with reliable accuracy, and people liable to the pains and aches of rheumatism dread every change to damp or stormy weather. Although Hood's Sarsaparilla is not claimed to be a positive specific for rheumatism, the remarkable cures it has effected show that it may be taken for this complaint with reasonable certainty of benefit. Its action in neutralizing the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism constitutes the secret of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you suffer from rheumatism, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial; it will do you good.
